We are hiring a student assistant!

The Chair of Economics VI: Empirical Economics is looking for a student assistant to help us with our research and teaching with a work load of 40 hours per month starting April 1.

Your responsibilities include, among other things, the active support of our team in ongoing empirical research projects, for example in the fields of international trade and environmental economics. In addition, you support us in preparing the courses offered by the chair.

You have a strong interest in working in an academic environment and are able to work independently. For a successful application, you have to have completed an introductory econometrics course (e.g. EWF I) with an above-average grade. Knowledge of international trade theory, as well as the use of LaTeX and STATA and/or Matlab would be an asset but not a strict requirement.

We offer you a varied and interesting position, challenging tasks, and an informal working atmosphere in a young and open-minded team.

If you wish to join us and are in Bayreuth during the summer semester, please send an application with your curriculum vitae, a copy of your high school diploma, and a transcript of grades (master students please add a transcript of their completed undergraduate degree) citing the reference number #2 until February 28 via email to:
